Understanding and Making Provisions for Children with ADD and ADHD

Do you know the similarities and differences between Attention Deficit Disorder and Attention Deficit-Hyperactivity Disorder? Participants will be provided with tips, resources, and strategies for making provisions for children who have been identified with these disorders. Information shared will help teachers design an inclusive learning environment for all children and prevent challenging behaviors.

February 27 | 10:00 am-1:00 pm | Cabarrus
$15 | 3.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/1

Social & Emotional Development

The Basics of Inclusion

When it comes to typical development in preschool children, do you know the early warning signs of a disability or delay? Do you know what to do if you suspect such a problem? Learn the answers to these questions and more! Participants will also discuss the features of a quality inclusive program and how to arrange and adapt the environment so that children with disabilities are successful in the classroom.

January 11 | 6:00 pm-8:00 pm | Mecklenburg
$15 | 2.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/3

Behavior: Is Prevention the Key?

Can challenging behaviors be prevented? What is the teacher's role in preventing problem behaviors? This session will focus on strategies to prevent common behavioral issues in the classroom. We will analyze many elements of a typical day and how they affect children's behavior, including routines and schedules, the classroom environment, and teacher-child interactions.

March 23 | 2:00 pm-4:00 pm | Mecklenburg
$15 | 2.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/2

Behavioral Intervention Strategies: You Want Me To Try What?

Teachers of children who engage in challenging behaviors often find themselves reacting in ways that reinforce the behavior and actually make it worse. Participants will learn behavioral intervention strategies (i.e. planned responses to behaviors designed to help teachers prepare for situations in which past responses have not been successful). This session introduces six key intervention strategies to help participants develop new responses to challenging behaviors.

January 7 | 6:30 pm–8:30 pm | Cabarrus
$15 | 2.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/2

Causes of Misbehavior: Why Do They Act That Way?

Why do some children come to depend on challenging behaviors while others discover better, more effective ways to get what they want? Generally, children use negative behavior when they lack the skills that would help them meet their needs. Teachers who take time to assess the reason for misbehavior are better able to teach children new social-emotional skills. This session focuses on the common reasons that children misbehave, a crucial first step in determining how to prevent/reduce challenging behaviors.

February 11 | 6:30 pm–8:30 pm | Union
$15 | 2.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/2

Grief and Loss: Helping Young Children Cope

Recent findings show that many early care and education professionals feel ill-equipped to help young children deal with loss and grief and cope in the face of change. In this session, participants will gain an understanding of how children process death and loss at an early age, how their behavior may be affected by grief and loss, and how caring adults can help. Participants receive a packet of information containing tip sheets, a children's book list, a resource list, and activity portfolio.

Partnering with Families to Address Challenging Behaviors: We're All In This Together!

When a child engages in challenging behaviors at school, families and teachers need to work together to address the issue. But what happens when parents feel blamed by teachers and teachers feel unsupported by parents? This session will focus on developing strategies and skills to make conversations about challenging behaviors more productive for everyone . . . especially the child!

March 11 | 6:30 pm–8:30 pm | Rowan
$5 | 2.0 credit hours
Audience & Level: A/1

Praise or Encouragement: That's the Question!

Educators agree that children do best in supportive, friendly environments. But too much praise can be counterproductive. Participants will learn how to support children's efforts with encouragement that is specific to a child's efforts instead of relying on such praise words as "Good job", "Great", and "What a beautiful picture!"
